Poor old Walter Camp is going to have the time of his life this fall. Years ago Walter wished upon himself the job of picking the All-American football team, the 11 players who were the best in the country. As long as he simply disregarded the world other than New England, New Jersey and Pennsylvania all went well, but as he gradually discovered the rest of the United States his self-imposed job approached madness.

But this year it's a shame. Any choice that he makes will not be as official in the older days, and to man in the country can select a representative team by watching the teams in action. It used to be easy. Camp would look over the first four teams, that is, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Harvard and Yale, and then make a selection.

Heston and Eckersall. Camp took a notion one day to pick a team that was not entirely composed of the big four and he went west. He selected Billie Heston and Walter Eckersall, and did it because these two players were so far ahead of the stars in the East that there was no comparison. Camp kept to the East in picking out the stars, but occasionally looked to the West, as was the case when he picked Schulz, Benbrook, Wells, Craig and Maulbetich of Michigan, Steffen and Desjardien of Chicago, Dorias of Notre Dame and Chapman of Illinois.

Finally the Yale authority branched out and picked Englehorn of Dartmouth, O'Hearn of Cornell and others. Colgate got representation when Huntington was selected as quarterback. This year he has worlds to cover. He has Pittsburg, Cornell, Illinois, Washington, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Washington State to remember. These teams are undefeated this year. The Yale football man must recognize many of the stars on the other teams playing the game this year.

Pacific Coast Neglected. Camp has never selected a man from the coast on his mythical eleven. There have been many stars in the Pacific Northwest thoroughly up to the standard of the playing in the East. Englehorn of Dartmouth was never a big star in the Pacific Northwest, but still made the team while at Hanover. Dudley Clarke of Oregon, Borleske of Whitman, Wolf of the Oregon Aggies, Mucklesone of Washington and many other stars are players who would have made great reputations on eastern teams.

In reality, selecting an All-American eleven this season is a difficult task. As one man said last year, "You've got to cover too much territory." And they will have to cover territory this year. The Pacific Northwest has forced public opinion to take a new twist, and the teams picked by the newspapers of the country from the press reports are certain to be as representative as the selection of Camp. Camp will have to take the stories in the newspapers this year if he expects to select a team anywhere near a representative eleven, and we are not puffed this year, and we are not pulling for any one team or player, but there are many critics in this city who know that the football in the Northwest is fully up to the standard of that in the East.

Well Qualified. In selecting an All-American team this year, the writer has one of the best qualifications to advance. He has not witnessed a big clash this year. But taking the press reports on the all-around play of the players of the year it might be interesting to find an eleven that would be representative. The mythical eleven will no doubt contain many of the stars that Camp has picked, nevertheless a story of the leading stars of the year may be in order.

There is a dearth of good ends this season. The stars of last year have graduated. Hardwick, O'Hearn, Merrill and Solon are out of it this year and a new crop has come up. Higgins of Penn State has been one of the stars of that team this year, while Chamberlain has been a tower of strength to the Corn Huskers. Soucy of Harvard and Shelton of Cornell have been the leading players at end on their teams this season.

Highley of Princeton may rank on the leading selections this season, and Herron of Pittsburg has played a great game this year. Mike Hunt of the University of Washington was the leading flank man of the Northwest.

Honolulu Man Selected. Atherton Gilman of this city has earned a place on the All-American eleven as he has played consistent ball this year, and was one of the three stars of the Crimson team. His work in the big games should earn him a place on the big eleven of the year. The second tackle, Beckett of Oregon, may be a new name to football fans who have studied the game in the East. Beckett is the greatest tackle every developed on the Pacific coast. That is a statement that will sound big, but last year the Portland boy was a wonder. He was the whole Oregon team this year when the Eugene eleven defeated the Oregon Aggies. If Walter Camp is looking for tackle timber he could do worse than select Johnny Beckett on his mythical eleven. Buck of Wisconsin and Shull of Chicago have been the stars on their teams, and Abell of Syracuse, Nash of Rutgers and Weyand of the Army are great tackles.

Syracuse Has Good Guards. There has been a grand fight on this year for the guard position and one could select Syracuse guards and let it go at that, but Spears of Dartmouth has played a great game this year, and the same may be said of Black of Yale, Fitzgerald of Notre Dame and Hogg of Princeton.

Peck of Pittsburg appears to be the leading candidate for the center job this season. There has been a battle waged by the centers this season, and three men loom up as probable choices for the place. McEwan of West Point has been a star this year, but Peck has played a game worthy of a great star. Cool of Cornell, though light, and Watson of Illinois are great stars this season.

Barrett a Star. The quarter-back case can be settled in one guess. Barrett of Cornell has been the big star of the year in that position, and although Durham of Washington State, Russell of Chicago, Cahill of Lehigh and Anderson of Colgate have played great football neither can supplant the Cornell captain.

The halfback positions present an interesting study to the critic. When De Prato of the Michigan Aggies started out this year he was picked as a logical man for the All-American. Then Abraham of the Oregon Aggies came along to Lansing and the played the great Aggie star. The easterners pinned their hopes on Abraham. They perhaps will include the O. A. C. man in their selections if they come west, but the easterners have not heard of "Hap" Miller of Washington, nor have they seen the big star play. If Camp could watch the 200-pound half dash down the field with the ball, his halfback job would be settled. Miller looms up as the greatest halfback in the game today.

Maulbetich Again. Johnny Maulbetich was kept back this season when the Michigan line was like paper, but he was good last season, and as he has improved 50 per cent there is no reason for keeping the Michigan back off the big eleven. Given a strong line to play behind, Maulbetich would do wonders as he did last year when he gained more yardage against the Crimson than the entire Harvard team gained. Hastings of Pittsburg, Olyphant of the Army, Abraham of the Oregon Aggies, Bangs of Washington State, Macomber of Illinois, Wilkinson of Syracuse and Miller of the Oregon Aggies were great players.

Liddle Mahan could not be kept off the eleven with a hammer. The Harvard star was the great player of the year, the greatest player without doubt that ever wore a Harvard uniform and his name will go down in the football records along with Heston, Eckersall, Thorpe and Heffelfinger. McCreight of W. & J. and Re Prato of the Oregon Aggies were big stars of the year, while Bierman of Minnesota and Guernsey of Yale are entitled to especial mention.

It may seem strange to see an All-American team selected in a city thousands of miles away from the football fields of the mainland, but as there are many alumni in this city interested in the game, the writer has taken the opportunity to present the leading players of the year, from a close study of the games as played on the mainland gridirons. This selection may not be according to Camp, but there are players on this team such as Beckett and Miller who are worthy of selection, regardless of geographical location.

The new Santa Monica (Cal.) Country Club already has 300 members enrolled and expects to have its course ready for play within a couple of weeks. Charter members were let in for $60, but the initiation fee hereafter will be $100.

Punahou Stars Will Contest For Cup Today

Punahou football stars will contest for a cup this afternoon at Alexander Field. The contest between the football players of this year will consist of place kicking, punting and drop-kicking. All members of the Punahou football team are eligible for competition. The trophy to be awarded to the Punahou Athletic Association is continuous, each year the winner having his name inscribed on the trophy.

Punahou has four players this year who have been stars in this department. Noble Kauhane has shown the best work in kicking goals from the field while Correa and Peterson have been consistent punters in all the games of the year. Stephens has been booting the ball consistently in practice and the big lineman is expected to be in the race this afternoon. The contest is scheduled to begin at 3:30.

BENSON-SMITH TEAM PRESCRIBES FOR FAST HOLLISTER TOSSERS

Benson-Smith's all-stars won an exciting game from the Hollister Drug Company baseball team Sunday afternoon at Molokai field by a score of 12 to 9. The secret service man who was employed to keep the disaster out of the newspapers was bribed and the story is told. The Benson-Smith team humbled the Hollister club and the latter team is now looking for revenge.

"Soothing Syrup" Burdick and "H2SO4" Amoy were the bright and shining stars for the Benson-Smith combination. They hit well and had their play doped out well. "Euthymia" Slate and "Swamp Root" Chee were the heavy hitters of the Hollister prescription writers. "Gets It" Cornes was the backstop for the losers, and was always at the mark. "Rexall" Lemick, in the left garden, was one of the stars for Benson-Smith. "Rock and Rye" Peterson started with the pellet.

Amoy, the winning pitcher, was opposed by Chee and Kong, and the Benson-Smith sent eight of the Hollister players back to the mortar. Burdick, a former O. A. C. star, made the big hit of the day when he smashed a long three-bagger to left center.

The lineup of the teams follows: Benson-Smith—Nakamura, c; Amoy, p; Aki, 1b; Lai San, 2b; Sakai, 3b; Burdick, ss; Lemick, if; Ah Leong, cf; Ah Chan, Peterson, rf; Hollister—Cornes, c; Kong, p; Slate, 1b; Kashiwada, 2b; Chee, 3b; Braise, ss; Fong, if; Louis, cf; Chang, rf.

FAMOUS RUGBY STARS DIE ON BATTLE LINE

Rugby followers will regret to hear of the death of Albert Downing and Henry Dewar, both members of the famous All-Blacks, the New Zealand team which toured the coast in 1913. Jim Wylie, who came to the United States as a member of the All-Blacks, and who is now Stanford's forward, has just received the news through George Mason, who managed the New Zealanders on their trip to America. Downing and Dewar were both killed in the Dardanelles, where all but six members of the All-Blacks are now fighting with the Allies. Jay Cuthill, the All-Black fullback, lies in a hospital severely wounded with a gunshot wound in his thigh. "Downing was undoubtedly our greatest forward," declared Wylie today, with a tear in his eye for his fallen comrade. "This means that he was probably the best forward in the world. Dewar played wing forward, and was also one of our stars." Wylie states that he is a reservist in the British army and that if he is called to go to the war, Wylie also stated that Tasker, who was with the Waratahs when they came to the United States in 1912, has been severely wounded in the Dardanelles.

The death of the two stars and the injuries of others received will perhaps kill the game on the Pacific coast. Stanford and California kept the rugby game going because the All-Blacks played the game in such a way that it was a pleasure to watch, and the football fans hoped that the playing on the coast would reach that standard. Now it is certain that the All-Blacks will not come to California, which will mean only a Stanford-Santa Clara game to keep up the interest. This cannot last long, and fans on the mainland are certain to see the American game at Stanford before long.

"Why is it," asks a pugilistic fan, "that Sam Langford knocks out some men in one or two rounds and let others stay the limit, although the others look like dubs?" The answer is simple. At the beginning of each bout Sam counts the house. If it's a slim house, Sam knows there's no chance for a return match, whereupon he finishes the other guy as quickly as possible. If it's a big house, Sam lets the other guy stay the limit so that a return match will be a good drawing card.

The Honolulu School for Boys expects to have the material for a good football team next year, and will make an effort to enter the interscholastic league in 1916.

Pittsburg Star

Peck of Pittsburg is one of the leading football stars of the year. The big center has been one of the factors in bringing the Pittsburg eleven to the front this season. Peck has had a great race with McEwan of the Army and Cool of Cornell for the honor of being the leading center of the year. Coach Werner states that the Pittsburg center is one of the greatest players in the game.

MINNESOTA HAS CLAIM TO TITLE

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 20.—Minnesota triumphed over Wisconsin here today, 20 to 3, in a bitterly contested struggle. The Badgers' score came in the first quarter on a field goal by E. Simpson. After that the Gophers' defense tightened, while its varied attack netted three touchdowns. Baston added two points on goals from touch-downs.

A fumbled punt by Louis of Minnesota gave Wisconsin the ball on the Gophers' 20-yard line and made the opportunity for the only score of the first period. E. Simpson drop-kicked a field goal.

In the rest of the period Minnesota advanced steadily, losing the ball once on an intercepted forward pass. At the call of time Minnesota was on Wisconsin's 25-yard mark. Long Kicking Duel.

A long kicking duel opened the second period, the ball being in play between the 40-yard lines without material gain to either team. Finally Minnesota's offensive began to work and from the seven-yard mark Long plunged to within six inches of the mark, where Wisconsin took the ball on downs. Simpson's punt, however, went short, and the grinding attack was resumed until Bierman scored and Baston kicked goal. Score and second period: Minnesota, 7; Wisconsin, 3.

Minnesota received the kick-off and advanced to the center line before forced to exchange punts. A forward pass gained 25 yards, but Wisconsin intercepted the next one. Minnesota recovered on downs and Bierman with runs of 30 and 12 yards and two plunges of seven each went across. Baston again kicked goal. Score: Minnesota, 14; Wisconsin, 3.

Minnesota had the ball on Wisconsin's 20-yard line when the period opened. The Gophers went to the 12-yard line and then rough Wisconsin tactics gave them eight more. Three trials at the line were stopped, but on the fourth down Wyman scored. Baston kicked this goal. Score: Minnesota, 20; Wisconsin, 3.

On the next kickoff E. Simpson dashed through the entire Minnesota team, but was forced out of bounds at the four-yard line. A forward pass was intercepted by Baston. Wisconsin couldn't advance beyond the 35-yard mark after that. Final score: Minnesota, 20; Wisconsin, 3.

Bowling is not strictly confined to Oakland. Honolulu demonstrated last Friday evening that the local Knights of the Maple Slide were still in evidence. The next thing to do is to challenge Jimmy Smith's team.

John Ganzel To Arrive Here On Sierra Monday

As announced in the Star-Bulletin a few weeks ago, John Ganzel, manager of the Brooklyn Federal League team, will come to Honolulu. The well known baseball player will arrive on the steamship Sierra next Monday. Ganzel is well known to many of the baseball fans of Honolulu, as the Federal manager played here about 20 years ago. At the time of his residence in this city Ganzel organized a baseball team which was a winner in that day.

Ganzel left Rochester some time ago for a tour of the mainland in his automobile. He toured the Middle West and then took the southern route for points in Arizona and southern California. Ganzel was at one time manager of the Grand Rapids team and later played with many other organizations in organized baseball. He was manager of the Rochester team of the International League last season, going from there to Brooklyn to take the management of the Ward team.

PENN OUTPLAYS ITHACANS FOR THREE PERIODS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 25.—Cornell defeated the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field today in one of the most grueling contests seen on that battle-scarred gridiron in a long time, and tonight the Ithacans are claiming the football championship of the East. The score was 24 to 9, but it does not indicate the terrible scard the fighting Quakers gave the undefeated big red team right down to the last period of play. The final quarter opened with Pennsylvania leading, 9 to 7, and Cornell fighting desperately to turn the tide of victory in her favor. Captain Barrett leading in the attack.

Pennsylvania, battered about by various teams during the season and desperate from adverse criticism because of her poor showing, had risen like a flash in the second period, swept Cornell off her feet and took the lead amid the frantic cheering of her faithful followers. Then Cornell, backed down to the last trench with defeat staring her in the face, showed her championship caliber.

By a mighty effort she smashed Pennsylvania's great defense and battered her way to victory by scoring two more touchdowns and a field goal. Twenty-five thousand persons saw the New York state team win her way to football honors. It was Cornell's third straight victory over Pennsylvania and her fourth win over her rivals in 23 years. Barrett was Cornell's greatest hero and closed his football career by scoring eighteen of Cornell's 24 points. The Navy football squad, which plays the Army at New York on Saturday, saw the game.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 25.—Only their ability to brace inside their 15-yard line allowed the Giants of Syracuse University football team to escape from their game with the University of Montana today with a score of 6 to 6. The Westerners completely outplayed their rivals in a straight rushing game. The Montana team, instead of using the expected open play, smashed the Syracuse line for long advances, gaining 251 yards from scrimmage to 141 for Syracuse. The game was played in a snowstorm which at times became almost a blizzard.

Georgetown a Winner. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—Overwhelming superiority in speed and technique and a slight advantage in weight enabled the Georgetown Col. lege eleven of Washington, D. C., to defeat St. Louis University, 90 to 0, during a drizzling rain here today. St. Louis put up a hard fight from start to finish.

Carlisle Overwhelmed. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 25.—Brown overwhelmed the Carlisle Indian football aggregation today by a score of 39 to 3. The home team had the upper hand throughout the game, rushing the ball around the field at will. Carlisle's only score came in the final period, when F. Eroker boot-ed a field goal from the 22-yard line.

Here's a little deviation from the beaten track. A certain club, the name of which is not given in the account of the affair, holds a "tag" tournament every year. To all intents and purposes it is simply a mixture of four some competition. It differs in the manner of obtaining the pairings. All the men are lined up and the women as well, each equipped with a tag. At a given signal the women rush to the line of masculinity, tag the preferred one and take him as a partner. First come first served. Quite in keeping with life itself—when a woman tags you you're "it."

Despite the war the golf clubs in Victoria and Vancouver are still on the increase.

ILLINOIS TEAM OUTPLAYS FAST MAROON ELEVEN

CHICAGO, November 20.—A dash-ing attack in the first period gave Illinois a 10-to-0 victory over Chicago today. All the points were made in the first quarter, but after that the Maroons by a surprise development of defensive power, held the Illinois safe. New stars appeared in Haystrom of Illinois, who made the only touch-down, and Pershing of Chicago, whose all-around work was a feature.

Illinois scored twice in the first period. A touch-down resulted largely from a 30-yard run by Clark and Pogue's pass, combined with Clark's forward passing, brought the ball later to Chicago's 15-yard mark. Macomber kicking a field goal from placement ten yards farther back. Chicago's attack gained ground, but was nullified by fumbling. Score: Illinois 10, Chicago 0.

In the second period Salstrom interrupted a Maroon forward pass and on Macomber's 65-yard punt Russell was downed on his 40-yard line. Russell gained in a punting duel. Long forward passes and runs by Pershing. Agar and Russell brought the play into Illinois territory, but a double pass lost the ball on-downs—the Maroons were spilling the Illinois attack as the quarter ended.

In the third period Pershing fumbled the ball on the kick-off, but picked it up and ran forty yards. A versatile attack advanced the play to the Illinois' 15-yard line, but the Illini held for downs.

Halstrom broke through the Maroon line for thirty yards, and a tackle run by Pogue brought the ball to the Maroon 25-yard line, where a fumble gave it to Chicago. The Maroons could not gain and Russell punted. Macomber gained 20 yards on a triple pass. Pogue then ran to the 15-yard line and Macomber missed a field goal. The ball was Chicago's in mid-field when the quarter ended.

In the fourth period Illinois solved the Maroon attack and carried the ball to Chicago's 3-yard line on trick plays and straight tackle plays. Here the Maroons held and Russell punted to the Chicago 40-yard line. The ball was Chicago's in mid-field when the game ended.

SERVICE SQUAD SMOTHERS FIVE FROM BASEMENT

Y. M. C. A. Basketball League.
Service.....P. W. L. Pct.
Tigers.....5 5 0 1.000
Dormitory.....5 2 3 .400
Cosmopolitans.....5 1 4 .200

Last night's results—Service 36, Cosmopolitans 2, Dormitory 18, Tigers 13.

The El Globos won the first series from the Washingtons in the Y. M. C. A. intermediate basketball league last night by default. A previous game on which the championship depended had been called four minutes before time was ready up and the officials ordered it replayed.

The Washingtons having led 13 to 12 when time was called by mistake, felt that they had won the game and declined to play last evening. The El Globos had a full team in the field at 7:30, and after holding the watch for five minutes Referee Jackson awarded the game to them. This finish was unsatisfactory to both teams, which are very evenly matched, and the second series after the holidays will really decide which is the best team in the intermediate basketball league.

The senior leaguers staged two games last night, one of which was a walkover and the other hotly contested. The Service team, which is probably the strongest that can be gathered together in the islands, found the Cosmopolitans crippled by the absence of two men and an injury to a third. The result was an easy victory for the Army 25 to 2. The score at the end of the first half was 10 to 1. In the second period the Service machine worked even better and their passing was remarkably fast.

It was left for the Dormitory and Tiger teams to stir up the excitement of the evening. The champions of last season did not have their full strength in the field, while the Dormitory continued to show improvement. Lake and Page, the Dormitory guards, played a rattling good game, and scored five field goals while holding the Tiger forwards to only two.

Meinecke started at center with a couple of field goals, a fine defense and good passing. Haneberg showed up better at guard than forward, while Methven did well against such a formidable opponent as Dreier.

Page tossed three field goals from running shots in the first half. Each Dormitory forward made a basket, and Lake also scored one. That made the score 12 to 5 at the end of the half. The Tigers took a new lease on life in the second period, and field goals by Haneberg, Meinecke and Serrao brought them within a single point of their opponents.

The score was 14 to 13 with two minutes to play. Field baskets by Lake and Dreier then clinched the game for the Dormitory. Next week the Dormitory will meet the Service and the Tigers and Cosmopolitans play the other game. This looks like one of the best bills of the season. Last night's line-ups:

Goals from field—Hackett 4, Merfillees 4, Noyes 2, Gevarder 2, Wheeler 1.

Fouls thrown—Gomes 2 in 6 tries. Referee—Jackson. Timer—McAllister. Scorer—Larimer. Time of halves—15 minutes.

Goals from field—Dreier 3, Page 3, Lake 2, Donn 1, Meinecke 1, Serrao 2, Haneberg 2.

Fouls thrown—Meinecke 1 in 3 tries. Referee—Green. Timer—McAllister. Scorer—Larimer. Time of halves—15 minutes.

The first "golf island" in the history of the royal and ancient game is to be the site of the new 18-hole course of the Ocean City Golf Club, on which work of construction is to be started in a few weeks.

The entire course of this latest addition to the sequence of coast golf links along the New Jersey shore will be surrounded by salt water, and golfers throughout the East are speculating on the possibilities suggested by the coming opportunity to play their favored game under the same climatic conditions as prevail on the famous boardwalks of both this resort and Atlantic City.

The unofficial figures for the past baseball season show that there were but eight .300 hitters in the National League, and only 11 in the American. Two years ago there were 20 men in the National League with averages of .300 or better, and 15 in the American. In 1912 the major leagues each boasted 30, and in 1911 each circuit had 32 such batters.
